FRANCE WANTS MERCIER FOR THE NEW POPE

Election of Belgian Prelate Admitted to be Doubtful, However

CONCLAVE FEB 2.

American and Canadian Representatives Expected to be Late in Arriving.

Rome, Jan. 24.—Official orders for the summoning of the Sacred College conclave, at which a successor to Pope Benedict XV will be chosen, place the date for the beginning of the impressive secret ceremony on February 2. It is doubtful that the two American cardinals or the Canadian prelate will be able to reach Rome in time to cast their votes.

Deputy Di Fausto, of the Popular Party declared in an interview that France would support the candidacy of Cardinal Mercier, of Belgium, thus breaking up the custom of choosing an Italian Pope. His election, it was admitted, was far from probable.

With the beginning of the Novem Diales, or period of nine days devoted to funeral services for the late Pontiff, workmen are starting their task of walling up the apartments, behind which the cardinals will meet and from which they must not depart until a choice of a new Pope has been made.

Fifty-five princes of the church probably will be present at the beginning of the conclave and a two thirds' majority is necessary for election. Indications continue to favor Cardinal Maffi as the most probable choice for the throne of St Peter, although Cardinal Gasparri and Cardinal Merry Del Val also are receiving much consideration. That the new Pope will be an Italian is considered a foregone conclusion, since of the entire membership of the Sacred College thirty one are Italians.

Meanwhile the body of Benedict, XV, removed from the throne room in the Vatican where it lay in state yesterday and viewed by high church officials and other dignitaries, was borne to the Sacrament chapel at St. Peter's at 9 o'clock Monday morning with the usual ceremony prescribed on usch occasions.

The restriction, imposed by the late Pope, however that his body should not be embalmed, necessitated several changes in the usual formula, and shortened the period usually devoted to viewing the body by devout worshippers. Much of the ceremony, too, was hastily changed to meet the circumstances.

Benedict's nephew, the Marquis Giuseppe Della Chiesa, is made practically sole heir to the personal property left by the Pope, by the pontiff's will. Other property is held only temporarily by the pontiff, as custodian for the church, and returns to the church upon his death.

For the first time in the history of new Italy, the official Gazette, organ of the government, carried Monday evening an announcement of the death of Pope inclosed in a black border.

Again the action is considered significant, and—coupled with the visits of ministers to the Vatican and the government's orders for a two day period of mourning through out Italy—gives rise to the belief that the reapproachement of state and church for which Benedict worked so earnestly in life, may be on the eve of realization.

Ecclesiastical and political experts, discussing candidates for primacy, are devoting some attention to Cardinals Lafontaine and Ratti, Either of these two dignitaries would be more acceptable to some elemtnts of the hierarchy, particularly since Cardinal Merry Del Val and some others such as Gasparri, now cardinal chamberlain are strongly opposed to Maffi's cordiality with Italian royalty.

Attempted Arson Charge

Colored Man Weeps When Arraigned. Held For Investigation

A colored man giving the name of Joseph Williams, who said he came here from Ocean View, Va., arrested by Policeman Lawrence Padgett, was arraigned in the police court today for alleged attempted arson. The prisoner, it was charged attempted to set fire to the residence of Henry Allen, 603 South Lee street, at 6:30 o'clock last night. He was captured by Underwood Allen while on the front steps of the place. Allen told the court that he admitted attempting to burn the house. A few rags were offered as evidence. The prisoner told the court he has "smothering" spells and had no recollection of the affair and he asked for mercy. During the progress of the hearing he wept copiously. The court remanded the accused and took his case under advisement.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

(From our Special Correspondent.)

Washington, Jan. 24.—Some days ago George Dewey, of Lynn Mass., entered the Manufacturers' National Bank there and presented a sight draft for $50 on the White House, Washington, D. C. A few days later he returned to ask if the draft had been honored and was surprised to learn that it had not been sent out for collection. So he insisted that the draft be presented, as he said, "to any official of the White House," who would pay it. The bank officials were still skeptical but sent the draft to their correspondent bank at Washington. The draft was presented at the White House where the information was obtained that the White House has no cashier and no money, and Mr. Dewey's draft was no good anyway. Dewey said he was a godson of Admiral Dewey.

The late Viscount Bryce, was probably the most democratic foreign representative ever sent to the National Capital. While he was serving as Ambassador from Great Britain, a newspaper reporter had occasion to visit the Embassy about midnight. The reporter rang the bell of the Embassy building, waited for a couple of moments and then the window in the second story front was raised and the Ambassador stuck his head out and inquired who was there

"All right, I'll be right down," said the Ambassador when the mission of the reporter was explained. And then attired in his pajamas covered by his dinner jacket and with slippers on his feet, the Amabassador unbolted the front door, gave the reporter the information he was seeking and returned upstairs to retire for the night.

In a statement given out today, Canon William S. Chase, of Brooklyn, declares that gambling promoters are providing the opposition to the pending race track bill but are keeping out of sight "and let certain newspapers fight the battle for it."

Canon Chase's statement was a belated appeal for passage of the bill which would make it a misdemeanor, heavily punishable for a newspaper to mail issues giving news of the sporting events which might offer advice or suggestion that could be used as the basis for betting.

It can be stated that this government regards the attitude of the French as constituting the main barrier to American participation in the Genoa conference. Acceptance of the invitation to participate at Genoa will not go forth until, "France comes down off her high horse."

Two major considerations prevent this government from accepting the invitation at this time, it is learned. One is that most of the governments of Europe are eating away their substance in supporting non-productive armies. Another is that France, especially, seeks the economic ruin of Germany, an attitude that will make any economic conference unsuccessful, inasmuch as Germany is one of the chief producing nations of Europe. Secretary of State Hughes has strongly urged the President not to accept the Genoa invitation under the present circumstances and until there are assurances that France will abate her boundary ambitions and will reduce her expensive army. As the Genoa conference now shapes up it will be a political conference and nothing more, in the opinion of Secretary Hughes.

Caton chairman of the Alexandria Bar Association at a meeting of that association for the purpose of probing the alleged divorce evil in this city resigned yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the Alexandria Bar Association. Immediately thereafter the Bar Association elected the same committee and there is no change in its personned.

The members of the committee follow: Judge J. M. Norton Judge C. E. Nicol Howard W. Smith Gardner L. Boothe Judge L. C. Barley C. Keith Carlin and J. Randall Caton. The election of the foregoing was unanimous and the chair cast the ballot of the association for them. Attending the meeting were twenty-six members of the association. James R. Caton presided.

For chairman of the committee F. G. Duvall placed in nomination Howard W. Smith who was chairman of the original committee and Judge J. K. M. Norton, placed in nomination Judge C. E. Nicol.

The question of whether or not a secret ballot should be taken precipitated a lengthy discussion and finally it was determined to take an open ballot and Mr. Smith was elected chairman over Judge Nicol by a vote of 18 to 6.

Those voting for Mr. Smith follow: James R. Caton Judge L. C. Barley J. Randall Caton, Gardner L. Boothe, Chas. Henry Smith, C. Keith Carlin, W. P. Woolls, F. G. Duvall, Carl Budwesky, Albert V. Bryan, Oscar C. Thomas, George B. Vest, Courtland H. Davis, Ashby E. Bladen, Frederick P. Russell, M. Carter Hall, R. W. Stump, Richard B. Washington.

Those for Judge Nicol were John M. Johnson, Judge J. M. Norton, Frank Stuart, H. Noel Garner, Charles E. Corgan and Aylett B. Nicol.

Mr. Smith and Judge Nicol did not take part in the voting.

There was considerable controversy over the powers of the committee and finally a resolution was offered by J. Randall Caton which was adopted. The resolution follows: "That the committee appointed do investigate the divorce evil in Alexandria in all of its phases whether it pertains to the court, lawyers practicing at the bar of the city of Alexandria and lawyers from outside who practice at the bar and all persons in any way connected with the divorce evil."

It also provides to compel the attendance of any witness and further that the committee upon the completion of its investigation is authorized to report its conclusions to the bar association. This resolution will be redrafted by a committee composed of Judge C. E. Nicol Judge L. C. Barley, Judge J. K. M. Norton. The committee named for the probe of the alleged divorce evil it is expected will meet within the next few days for the purpose of starting its investigation A collection was taken up yesterday afternoon to help defray the expenses of stenographer and other help.

City Council Tonight

City council will hold its semi-monthly meeting tonight. A number of matters of importance will be presented at this meeting for consideration. Whether or not a joint session will be held for the purpose of electing a school trustee from the second ward and a police commissioner from that ward has not been determined. At last meeting council made an ineffectual effort to elect. Candidates for school board were C. E. Tennesson, incumbent, and Cecil Hufty, and for police commissioner R. E. Knight, incumbent and William Baader.

By a recorded vote of 59 to 24, the House of Delegates yesterday voted down a motion made by Delegate Wilbur C. Hall, of Loudoun, to have the Committee on Courts of Justice discharged from consideration of the House joint resolution, amending Section 34 of the Constitution of Virginia, known as the "bone-dry oath," which carries out a recommendation of Governor Davis in his message to the General Assembly.

CIVIC BUREAU REPORTS ON ACHIEVEMENTS

Plan on Budget For New Form of Government Submitted

SMOKE NUISANCE

Expected to Have North Washington Street Extended Resurfaced—Power of Bridge Lights Doubled.

Many matters of importance were discussed and acted on last night by the civic bureau of the chamber of commerce. The meeting was largely attended. It was announced that in the early spring it is proposed to have north Washington street extended to the overhead bridge resurfaced, and that the co-operation of the state highway commission and good roads bureau has been obtained for this work.

James Bayne submitted an interesting and exhaustive report on the budget for the city that will be needed under the city manager plan form of government which will be placed in operation September 1. He made a comparison with Zanesville, O., which has a population slightly in excess of Alexandria. Mr. Bayne was tendered a vote of thanks for his report.

Announcement was made that the smoke nuisance which had been complained of by the residents of Rosemont has been abated through the co-operation of the railroads at the request of this bureau.

The Richard, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad Company, it was announced, had increased the candle power of the lights under the railroad bridge at the head of King street through the work of this bureau. Complaint had been made of the poor lighting facilities directly under the bridge.

The bureau decided to co-operate with the Arlington County chamber of commerce in its efforts looking to the removal of signs along certain highways in that county.

Announcement was made that the improvement of the roadway on North Fairfax street has been completed and the committee in charge was discharged with thanks.

H. E. Centry reported that the Alexandria Playgrounds Association would need additional funds, and this matter was referred to the board of directors of the chamber of commerce.

PRESIDENT FOR FEDERAL AID FOR FARMERS

Says They Must Be Assured Working Capital on Reasonable Terms

TO STUDY PROBLEMS

Committees Appointed—Chairman of Conference Asks Organized Control of Output.

Washington, Jan. 24.—With "dirt" farmers bluntly itemizing their financial distress and President Harding proposing far-reaching measures of Government assistance, the 300 delegates to the agricultural conference called by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace began consideration today of comprehensive plans to organize agriculture on the same basis of economic advantage as industry and commerce.

The first action of the Conference after the delivery of various addresses was the naming of 12 major committees to handle the problems which will come before them. These committees, in turn, provided for the division of their work among a number of subcommittees.

The committees with their chairmen follow:

Agriculture and price relations, E. B. Cornwall, Vermont.

Agricultural credit insurance, S. F. Houston, Missouri.

Transportation, H. J. Waters, Missouri.

Foreign competition and demands, H. J. Sconce, Illinois.

Costs, prices and readjustments, H. L. Russell, Wisconsin.

Crop and market statistics, O. S. Barrett, Georgia.

Marketing of farm products, C. H. Powell California.

Agricultural research and education O. E. Bradfute, Ohio.

National forest policy, Gifford Pinchot, Pennsylvania.

National land policies, R. A. Pearson, Iowa.

Co-ordination of state and federal legislation, E. D. Brigham, Vermont.

"There should be developed," said the President in his address, "a thorough code of law and business procedure, with the proper machinery of finance, through some agency, to issue that turnover capital shall be as generously supplied to the farmer and on as reasonable terms as to other industries. An industry more vital than any other, in which nearly half the nation's wealth is invested, can be relied upon for good security and certain returns."

The President suggested an amplification of the machinery of the Farm Loan Board and the adoption of the plan of European rural finance societies. Mr. Harding would legalize co-operative marketing, "the farmers selling price higher and the consumer's buying price lower," said the President.

To aid the farmer transportation facilities must be increased Mr. Harding said, and to accomplish this end he suggested the electrification of railroads to reduce such waste as the hauling of coal for transportation purposes and the development of waterways.

Representative Anderson of Minnesota chairman of the conference made a plea for the organization by the farmers of control of output asserting that price declines have been least in commodities controlled by highly organized industries of which the dairy industry is an example.

"When I consider" said Mr. Anderson "the desperate character of the situation I could wish that there was some means of bringing about this condition by governmental action but I am sure there is no governmental panacea that there is no magic word of ligislation and no magic wand of administrative action that can bring about these results. I am persuaded that they only can be accomplished through a more efficient organization of the producers.

"It is possible by organization for farmers to standarize the quality of the product of many farmers within a given locality and by such standardization to increase the price per unit for the entire crop.

"The farmer must delegate the power of selling his crop and of putting it in shape for market and of performing all of the services necessary to its delivery in quality quantity time and place to some organization which he controls."

Mrs. Franceska Kaspar Lawson will give a song recital in the Westminster Building on Friday evening, January 27th, at 8 o'clock.

AT RICHMOND LEGISLATION

Noise on the highways of the State will be eliminated to a degree, if a bill introduced yesterday by Delegate J. Harry Rew, of Accomac, is enacted into law. The bill provides that it shall be unlawful for any person to drive or permit to be wriven on any public road or highway of this State any motor vehicle at any time with the muffler cut out or not in operation. The offense is declared to be a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not less than $50.

Delegate Nottingham introduced a bill yesterday to exempt associations or organizations of farmers, including produce exchanges organized by farmers for mutual help in the marketing of their product and not for profit, from the imposition of license tax levied against persons, firms or corporations buying or selling for another on commission.

Delegate T. Gray Haddon, of Richmond, introduced a bill to prevent deception in the sale of paints, turpentine, linseed oil and any substitute provided therefor, and stipulating a penalty of from $25 to $100 fine, or imprisonment in jail for not less than sixty days for each violation.

Fixing the penalty for a person who shoots or stabs another with the intent to maim or kill at confinement in the State Penitentiary for not less than five years nor more than twenty years, or, if not inflicted maliciously, in the discretion of the court, with the intent aforementioned, the guilty person shall be confined in the penitentiary not less than one year nor more than five years, or confined in jail not exceeding twelve months and fined not in excess of $500, are the provisions of a bill offered by Delegate E. Hugh Smith.

Bolton and J. R. Horsley, are copatrons of the Co-Operative Marketing Bill introduced in the House of Delegates yesterday.

In the declaration of policy it is stated the object of the bill is to promote, foster and encourage the intelligent and orderly marketing of agricultural products through co-operation, to eliminate speculation and waste, and to make the distribution of agricultural products between the producer and the consumer as direct as can be efficiently done, and to stabilize the marketing of agricultural products.

Sweeping changes in the proposed memorial to Virginians who served in the world war are embodied in a bill introduced in the Senate yesterday by Senator Morgan R. Mills, of Richmond.

The bill provides for a memorial of far greater proportions than that proposed by act of the General Assembly in 1920, under which the city of Richmond deeded the property of Richmond deeded the property known as the Ford lot to the State as a site. Purchase of property on the north side of Broad Street, between Eleventh and Twelfth Streets, to supplement the site, and the erection of a building straddling Broad Street, is proposed by Senator Mills, who asks an appropriation of $250,000 in two installments to purchase the land, and also asks authority for the reorganized memorial commission to issue bonds to the extent of $2,500,000 to erect the structure.

JAPAN GIVES HER PLEDGE ON RUSSIA IN ASIA

Siberian Matter Promises to be Settled Quickly

CHITA UP IN ARMS

Delegates Charge Their Island Neighbors With Lack of Faith in Negotiations.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Without waiting to finish everything in the Chinese section of the agenda, the Far Eastern Committee today took up the Siberian question and, as has been forecast frequently, the indications are that it will be settled quickly and without the screws being applied to Japan.

Barion Shidehara, for the Japanese defegation, laid before the committee a definite promise that Japan will withdraw her troops from the Russian territory of Eastern Siberia as soon as protection is assured her nationals and the transportation system. She also made a definite promise to get out of the Russian part of Sakhalin as soon as she has completed reprisal for the massacre of Japanese at Nikolaevsk.

While the Far Eastern Committee has not concluded consideration of Siberia, members of the American delegation, from whom would come any move the Conference might make to put pressure on the Japanese to get them out of the old Russian territory, said tonight that it was difficult to get more from a nation than Japan has given in the matter. One of the leaders of the American delegation expressed the opinion that Japan has pledged herself to respect the old Russian territory as solemnly as a nation could do and that "we are bound to accept the promise as made in good faith."

He went on to say that the Japanese pledge made today does not differ greatly from the statements made by the Japanese Government in the past to this Government, but he made the point that now Japan is giving her promise publicly to a Conference of great nations. It will be recalled that last summer Secretary Hughes took a strong position that the powers should exercise a "moral trusteeship" over the Russian territory bordering on the Pacific until Russia is able to maintain her own rights. That evoked from Japan disclaimers of intention to grab the territory.

The next step of the Conference in the matter was not disclosed tonight, and it appeared that the American delegates wanted a little time to think about what they should ask the Conference to do, if anything. It is possible that some sort of resolution will be adopted in which respect for the integrity of Russia's Siberian territory will be declared.

However, this case differs from that of China, as one of the American delegations had occasion today to recall, in two respects:

First—in Siberia unlike in China, only Japan is holding control of territory.

Second—Russia is not here to express herself, as China is.

The first circumstances may cause some of the powers to hesitate about adopting such a resolution. They may ask why they should pledge respect for territory they are nowhere near.

While the members of the Conference consider the next move, knowing full well that it will be of formal character, since Japan's pledge is to be taken at face value, the delegation here in Washington from the Far Eastern Republic has taken the offensive against Japan. One statement came out tonight. It seems to have been prepared before the Chita delegation was certain of the day's happenings, and another statement is promised from the delegation tomorrow, in which Baron Schidehara's speech before the Far Eastern Committee today will be dealt with directly.

In today's statement it is charged that, as the time for discussion of the Russian Far Eastern problem has drawn near, statements have been appearing in the newspapers from Japanese sources announcing withdrawal of Japanese troops. Attention was directed to a dispatch from Paris, printed in this country last Wednesday, in which the Japanese Embassy in Paris was quoted as having said that it had received a cable from Tokio that all Japanese troops are to be withdrawn from Siberia and two divisions, comprising 20,000 men, placed in Korea.

Upon that the Far Eastern delegation makes this comment:

"The announcement of the withdrawal of the Japanese troops from the territory of the Russian Far East has become a chroni cstatement with the Japanese. Since August, 1920, the American newspapers have been carrying statements announcing the intended withdrawal of the Japanese troops from the Russian Far East."

FAMOUS LOAN EXHIBIT

We doubt if any city in the United States can boast of a collection within its precincts equal to that which will be on exhibition in Alexandria, January 25 and 26, in the Parish Hall of Christ Church. We mean equal in historic value and antiquarian interest. Besides which the program as prepared for the afternoon of Thursday, 26th inst., is one of absorbing fascination. The direct and collateral descendants and blood relatives of George Washington, James Monroe, Robert E. Lee, Ernest William Minnegerode, and Edgar Allan Poe, will speak on topics germane to the great characters whom they represent. Hundreds if not thousands of relics, each hallowed by some historic association, are to be exhibited. Some could not be duplicated in the wide world for their intimacy with the immortal heroes who brought the American Republic into the world. Others go back to colonial times when we were all loyal subjects of bluff King George of Hanover. Other times, other manners! Here is a snuff box that belonged to William Lee in the seventeen hundreds. Here is an ember box and shovel used for carrying coals from room to room—matches yet undreampt of! Here is a silver dish used by stout old governor Berkeley, first colonial governor of Virginia, 1642 to 1651, nearly used by stout old governor Berkeley—first colonial governor of Virginia, 1642 to 1651, nearly three hundred years ago, so please you! Here is the first piece of silver plate made in Virginia, by Silversmith Adams, a worthy Alexandrian. You will find a water color portrait of Polish Kosciusko, the hero at whose fall Freedom shrieked, and given by him to our own Thomas Jefferson; a silver porringer made by Paul Revere, before he took his midnight ride to alarm the farmers of Lexington and Concord, where the next dawning they fired the shot heard 'round the world! Also a piece of the first American flag captured by the wicked red coats. Also a watch, worn by Burke, of the Royal Irish, bedad, at the battle of Bunker Hill, whilst he cheered his boys and led them on against the Yankee rebels.

The most interesting relic to us, perhaps, is the mourning pin worn by Mrs. Washington after the General's death, and containing a lock of his hair. Thrice hallowed—by its ownership, by its contents, and by its mournful occasion.

All in all, this is a notable event for Alexandria. Miss Cummings and her incomparable committee deserve all praise. As we said to begin with, where in all the world could its like be produced today—save in this city of ours—sacred in its associations with the past and even memorable for its traditions and history!

BOND ISSUE FOR ROADS

Richmond, Jan. 24.—Members of the House of Delegates who voted for the resolution on the second day of the session aimed at a bond issue for roads are explaining their vote on the resolution as worded, that they were expressing to the people back home that they would not vote for a measure which meant increase in taxation. They assert that they would not be opposed to a small bond issue to supplement other road funds if it could be shown that such a bond issue could be made without any increase in the tax rate of the State. Parliamentarians of the House and Senate who have carefully studied the resolution and the procedure incident to the passing of the resolution regard it as nothing more than an expression of opinion against increase in taxation at this time. They rule that it could not operate against the constitutional right of any member to introduce a bill calling for a bond issue and have it treated with the usual procedure of reference to the proper committee. They do not believe that members voting for the resolution are morally bound to vote against a bond issue if they are convinced in their own minds that such an action does not mean an increase in the tax rate of the State.

The Virginia Good Roads Association has advocated the issuance of approximately $12,000,000 in State highway bonds by the present Legislature to supplement other revenues for 1922 and 1923 in order that Virginia can go ahead with the construction of State highways commensurate with the pressing need of the State for roads and to permit the State to take advantage of the favorable conditions for road construction, just as Maryland, West Virginia and North Carolina are now doing. Notwithstanding statements made by opponents to the bond issues that there are tremendous sums now available for State highway construction in 1922, the State of Virginia will have less than $4,800,000 available for new construction of the State highways in 1922. The law is very plain in setting aside one third of the auto tax, the mill tax, the value of convict labor, in addition to any direct appropriation and the Federal Aid. Assuming the same appropriation would be made, the total of all these sources will not exceed the amount stated. Any balances of either State or Federal funds in the treasury from 1921 will be more than taken up by contracts actually let and under way. The first money available for new contracts in 1922 will come from the automobile license collections and the appropriation, whatever it may be made by the General Assembly. These funds will not be available until March or later. Matching new Federal Aid will have to wait until the taxes are collected and the appropriation made. It remains for the General Assembly to decide whether Virginia shall spend less money for State highway construction in 1922 when prices are lower and labor needs employment than in 1921.

The action of the House of Delegates has materially increased the interest of the good roads advocates of the State in the annual convention of the Virginia Good Roads Association which was held in Richmond, January 18, 19 and 20. They came to Richmond from all over the State to show by their presence to their representatives that the people are behind them in providing ample funds for the speedy construction of a State highway system. Speakers of National and State wide importance were on the program.

Radcliffe, Iowa, with a population of 800, has 106 ex-service men, all of whom are members of the American Legion.

Ethel Coen Finishes in Lead—Boys Are Defeated in Hard Fought Battle

On Friday, January 20th, the champions 7th grade team of the Washington School, Mrs. Chloe spelling teacher, spelled against the champion 7th grade team of the Lee School, Mrs. Greenan spelling teacher. The contest was very close and both sides spelled so well that it took an hour and a half to complete the match. # FOR GREATER ALEXANDRIA

Captain E. B. Larimer of the Torpedo Station is Interviewed

Alexandria's Biggest Industry The Torpedo Station, Has a Monthly Payroll of $60,000

When asked what he thought of Alexandria and its future, Captain Edgar B. Larimer, U. S. N., commanding officer of the United States Naval Torpedo Station of this city, said that he did not care to be quoted as to the business conditions as they now exist within the city because he did not feel that he was well enough acquainted with them to give an intelligent statement.

He did tell that during his tour of duty here that he had been well pleased with the city in every respect. Today he is rounding out his first year of duty as commander of the Station, having taken command on January 25, 1921.

During this year he states that his associations with the business men and others of the city have been of a most encouraging nature.

He declares that no man has been discharged from the service of the station in that time because of the lack of funds, and that the few who did leave, left of their own accord, and a very few left for other reasons. The Torpedo Station has not, in the least, suffered for the laek of work or funds.

The monthly pay-roll at his plant, he says, ranges around $60,000, and that the outlook for the future continuance of the station in its present activeness seems to be exceedingly good.

The Torpedo Station is doing what it can for the advancement of Alexandria. Most of the employees of the plant are citizens of the city and, of course, the money they draw finds its way gradually into general circulation. Sixty thousand dollars each month poured into the city cannot help from advancing a Greater Alexandria and making the city more prosperous in every way.

As to the housing conditions in the city, Captain Larimer stated that, as far as he was able to ascertain, all of the employees were comfortably housed, although he refused to say that the general housing conditions were as they should be. When asked if many of his men did not live in Washington, he answered that if they did it was because they preferred to live in Washington and commute back and forth each day to living in this city. This statement brings to mind the words of some other of Alexandria's citizens who have said that this city should be made so attractive that the workers here will prefer to live here.

It behooves every true citizen of Alexandria, he says, to try to make Alexandria so attractive that these men will reside here and have instilled into them the spirit of the city and thus swell the ranks of those who are working for a bigger and a better city.

The Washington conference, it was authoritatively indicated today, will take up the question of the so-called Twenty-one Demands. It was stated that the Twenty-one Demands will "come up as soon as Shantung is out of the way if not before."

There are, in addition, several other known topics still to be considered by the conference in dealing with Chinese questions, including the Chinese Eastern Railway, Minister Koo's suggestion relating to the Sino Russian alliance of 1896, electrical communications as far as they affect China and an opportunity will be given for anything else that any delegation may wish to bring up. The only remaining subject after China is Siberia, and it was sugested in an official quarter that the Siberian question will not be dealt with in the same manner as has been the Chinese question as Russia is not represented at the Arms Conference.

VIRGINIA CROP REPORT FOR JANUARY

The total value of Virginia's principal crops for 1921 was $115,332,000, which is a decrease of 43 per cent from the total value for 1920, and 58 per cent less than in 1919, according to the final report of the U. S. Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates. The 21 crops that are recorded shows a decrease of $85,018,000 from the 1920 value of $200,350,000, and of $157,317,000 from the 1919 crops valued at $272,649,000, which is the greatest ever record for the State. In 1919 these crops were valued at $79,900,000.

The total value of the principal crops in the United States for 1921 was $5,675,877,0001 against $9,075,388,000 in 1920, and $13,689,597,000 in 1919.

The tremendous decrease in the value of Virginia's crops is due to the decline in prices and the reduced vield caused by the very unfavorable season. The price of apples, cabbage cotton, peaches, pears, white potatoes and sweet potatoes was higher on December 1st, 1921, than a year ago, but the majority of the crops grown in the State show a decrease in price. The value per acre of all crops except cabbage and cotton is less than in 1920.

The year 1921 was one of the most disastrous crop years Virginia has ever experienced, The late freezes and frosts last spring almost completely destroyed the fruit crops and injured the wheat, then the severe drought during th summer and early fall cut the yield of all crops, especially of tobacco, corn, and peanuts. Virginia's standing among the states of the Union according to the value of all crops dropped from 21st place in 1920 to 26th in 1921, the latter, however is the position occupied before the world war.

The total area in cultivation has been decreasing slowly, since 1919, largely owing to the reduction in the wheat acreage, and the return to pasture of much land that had been cultivated during the war. The area of the principal crops in 1921 was 4,438,500 acres, compared with 4,526,300 acres in 1920, and 4,589,600 acres in 1919. Corn oats, hay, sweet potatoes, and peanuts increased in acreage during the past year, while cotton, white potatoes, tobacco, and wheat decreased. In general the tendency during the past year was to decrease the acreage devoted to the so called money crops and enlarge the acreage of the crops furnishing supplies for home consumption.

Corn is still the leading crop both in acreage and value. In order of the total value, the leading crops are corn $31,757 000; tobacco $18,829,000; hay $16,461,000; white potatoes, $16,157,000; wheat $9,629 000; peanuts $6,326,000; and sweet potatoes $5,225,000. According to the values per acre the crops rank as follows: Cabbage $366.00; onions $364.00; white potatoes $118.80; sweet potatoes, $118.75; tobacco $112.75; sorghum for sirup $74.70; peanuts $42.46; cotton $7.72; hay $171.70; corn $17.25; and wheat $11.37.

Jewish Relief Fund

Appeal Sent Out Today By L. Ruben For This Cause

The quota of Virginia for this work is $200,000.

All contributions should be sent to J. T. Preston, secretary treasurer chamber of commerce.

Mr. Ruben requests all persons who do not receive letters also to send in what they can for this worthy cause, and it is hoped by the committee that there will be a liberal and speedy response to this appeal on the part of the citizens as the committee desires to get the funds together as quickly as possible in order they may be forwarded to headquarters and in turn used for the relief of the sufferers.

NEXT DOSE CALOMEL MAY SALIVATE YOU

It is Mercury, Quicksilver, Shocks Liver and Attacks Your Bones

Calomel salivation is horrible. It swells the tongue, loosens the teeth and starts rheumatism. There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when a few cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone—a perfect substitute for calomel. It is a pleasant vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can not salivate.

Calomel is a dangerous drug, besides it may make you feel sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone instead and you will wake up feeling great. No salts necessary. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than treacherous calomel your money is waiting for you.

A NATIONAL SPORTSMAN'S PARADISE

Before the advent of the White Man the American Indian was the most adroit, skillfull and fearless hunter of the world. He was liable at any moment to meet the stealthy panther and congar or the huge bear in his pursuit of the more valuable game which he required. His eye became like the eagle's, his ear caught the slightest sound, and by acquired instinct he quickly detected every sign and trace of animal life. A broken bough, a crushed leaf or fallen grass attracted his attention. He studied the habits of animals and birds, and could imitate their calls and cries and thus lure them to their fate.

At one of the great councils held between the Virginia colonists and the sachems of the forest the white men, desiring to bestow a favor upon what they regarded as a tribe of savages, offered to take five of their young men to the old William and Mary College and educate then in the ways of the white race.

As it was the Indians' custom to treat an important proposition with great solemnity, they took it under consideration and made no answer until the following day. Then the chief said that while they appreciated the good motive that prompted the generous proposition, at the same time they must decline for the reason that years before some of "their young men had gone to the white man's college, and when they returned they could neither defend a camp, build a boat or take the deer, in fact, they were good for nothing."

But in order to show the good will of their tribe, and that they appreciated the generous offer, "if the white men would send five of their young men with them back to the forest they would make men of them." In the primitive days this offer was made it was not appreciated and therefore declined.

Times Have Changed

Today there are many white men, both young and old, who would accept it with avidity because of recent years the strenuous nature of our business life has produced a reaction in many which fills them with a desire at times to get away from the towns and cities and back to the solitude of the forests and streams to hunt and to fish as the Indians did, and to enjoy the great big out of doors. Unfortunately the opportunities for this sort of pleasure and relaxation, as our country has become more and more settled, grow less and less.

The announcement therefore, just made, that in the South some primeval tracts where good hunting and fishing are still to be found, and of the organization of The Hunting and Fishing Club of America for the purpose of utilizing these tracts, is real news of significant importance to sportsmen all over the United States.

This club was recently incorporated in the State of Delaware and in co-operation with the Louisiana Coastal Development Corporation, its holding Company, it has acquired some 200,000 acres of virgin wild lands on the Gulf Coast in Southwestern Louisiana for a perpetual private game preserve.

Many Historic Features

Here in Acadia, the home of Longfellow's Evangeline, the heart of the territory of La Salle, Bienville, Iberville and others of historic fame, is the area of which Don Alessandro O'Reilly, second Governor of the state of Lousiana, wrote: "It is almost impossible to conceive the abundance of the forests the many miles of cypress, live oaks and pines, the numberless peltries derived from wild animals—deer, bear, wildcats, panther, martens, etc., highly prized in the markets of the world."—1735-1794—and he cites that "a party of hunters in four days filled their pirogue (or boat) with bear tongue tallow and oil, leaving scattered around an infinite quantity of meat for which they had no use."

Few Changes in a Century

Portions of this Louisiana domain are to-day still in a primitive condition, the natural home of all sorts of wild game, bear, deer, fish and fowl. It is in the heart of this primitive section of the state that The Hunting and Fishing Club of America has selected its acreage as a national sporting ground for purposes of a recreative nature for the hunting and fishing fraternity of the United States, to be operated under efficient club management. Presumably, it is the first institution of its kind of national scope and has been organized in response to and in consequence of the wide general interest in such a sporting project.

A Natural Habitat of Game

Here ducks and geese and many varieties of wild fowl have their winter feeding and breeding grounds; fresh water and tidewater fish constantly mingling, many varieties entering inland waterways or within a few hundred yards of creeks, bayous and lakes of the inland waters containing bass, pompano, trout, snapper and redfish. The greatest of all bird refuges, Louisiana is the largest producer of commercial furs and leads all others in wise and liberal laws for the conservation of game. Deer, bears, wildcats, lynxes, cougars or panthers are plentiful in the wooded lowlands, in probably greater variety and abundance than any equal area in the United States. Foxes and wolves are found and raccoons, possums and rabbits are most plentiful, while even the otter may still be found in limited numbers. This whole hunting field may be reached within a few hours travel from our advancing civilization which calls loudly for rest, recreation, travel and climatic variety for those in quest of a stimulating atmosphere, for the brain worker and man of action, and a milder growing temperature for the child and encevated individual run down from too close application to business.

Game in Great Variety

The canebreaks and timbered areas of Southwestern Louisiana also abound with mallard, teal, snipe, partridges, pheasants, spoonbill and wild turkey. Fisherman will find the placid streams, bayous and coastal areas a source of delightful sport. Making his headquarters at the commodious club houses or in his private cottage, the sportsman will have every opportunity to devote his leisure to the big outdoors, to recreation and health building sports: on the shady banks of fresh water streams angling for trout, bass and other gamey beauties; fishing in the salt water area on the Gulf Coast, within an hour's run by motor launch or sail boat, in quest of the festive tarpon, sunfish, diamond-back terrapins, redfish and mackeral, returning to comfort and an evening at the club where he will be provided with every entertainment and convenience giving zest and enjoyment after the day's sport.

Season Changes Give Variety

The seasonal changes in Louisiana are not sufficient to interfere with or detract from these plans of the management for the comfort and entertainment of its members, in making this place a popular winter resort and retreat for sportsmen. The weather in midwinter as a rule is devoid of the cold air of the Pacific coast or the sultry humidity of Florida.

Clubhouse and Cottages

Commodious buildings with telephone and telegraph, near to transportation and within 100 miles of New Orleans the winter Capitol of America, will be constructed. Liberal tracts of land will be provided for private cottages, with all clubhouse privileges for members, including competent guides and the best of service. The finest table delicacies, fruits and produce, butter, milk, cream and eggs will be provided. Golf, tennis and other popular forms of entertainment are to be added at the discretion of the club members. From a comprehensive plan of agricultural development many improvements on the club domain are proposed. A limited club membership, of about 1,000 is planned and a selective campaign for such membership will be inaugurated immediately.

Mineral Development

The greater portion of the Gulf Coast of Lousiana, including the 200,000 acres which will be owned by club members, in fee, is shown by a recent geologic survey to have structural formations, to say nothing of known oil and gas seepages in certain localities in this part of the state. This together with numerous new drilling operations now going forward in territory practically surrounding the club's property, which promises increased production, has decided the management of the Lousiana Coastal Development Corporation to initiate drilling tests for oil and other minerals at several points on their holding during 1922. The largest natural gas well in the world is located near part of the club's property, whereas another part of the property is located near the world's largest surphur mine.

Land Improvement

A portion of the million dollar capital of the Corporation will be directed to land improvement, as a considerable part of the acreage is subject to reclamation at a nominal cost. When reclaimed such land is readily salable as farm land at a handsome profit. The fertility of this virgin land surpasses in productivity the far famed valley of the Nile. It produces abundant crops of many varieties such as rice, sugar cane, corn and cotton, also truck and semi-tropical fruits. The mineral and land development plans which will be immediately inaugurated will inevitably result in a source of considerable revenue to club members instead of the club being an expense as is ordinarily the case.

Club Organization

The personnel of The Hunting and Fishing Club of America is composed of successful men of the highest reputation and business standing. They are: President, Newton W. Gilbert, Lawyer, of New York; Vice President, E. A. McCreary, Exporter and Importer, New York City; Secretary-Treasurer, W. H. Hamblake, formerly with the Irving National Bank, New York City; General Manager, H. Kendall, formerly of Shreveport, La, now of New York. The above officers together with the following constitute the Board of Directors: E. R. Ratcliff, President of the Invincible Oil Corporation, New York; John S. Stanley, Exporter and Importer, New York; C. B. Baldwin, President of the Transylvania Oil Company, Huntington, West Virginia, and W. J. Rodger, Capitalist, also of Huntington, W. Va.

Cleanliness and Health

It is impossible to emphasize unduly the importance of clean hands in preserving the health of the individual, since the hands are the chief carriers of germs to and from the mouth and nose. It has been estimated that if dirty fingers could be kept away from mouths a great deal of disease would be done away with altogether.

According to Rosnau's "Preventive Medicine and Hygiene," perhaps 90 per cent of all infections are taken in to the body through the mouth. They reach the mouth in water, food, fingers, dust and upon the innumerable objects that are sometimes placed in the mouth. This estimate is confirmed by Dr. Chapin in "The Sources and Modes of Infection." when he says:

"Probably the chief vehicle for the conveyance of nasal and oral secretions from one to another is the fingers. If one takes the trouble to watch for a short time his neighbors, or even himself, unles he has been particularly trained in such matters, he will be surprised to note the number of times that the fingers go to the mouth and the nose. Not only is the saliva made use of for a great variety of purposes, and numberless article are for one reason or another placed in the mouth but for no reason what ever, and all unconsciopsly. the fingers are with great frequency raised to the lips or the nose."

The hands should always be washed before eating after visiting the toilet and as often beside as they need to be kept clean, and fingers should be kept away from the nose and mouth.

Cleanliness of the rest of the body, while not directly as essential to health as that of the hands, is necessary, not only from the point of view of decency and self respect but for comfort and the improvement of the bodily tone and well being. Real cleanliness is impossible without frequent use of warm water and soap

Cold baths are stimulating, though not very efficacious for cleansing purposes. They are valuable tonics if properly used, but delicate or elderly persons should use them only b a physicians advic. Chilly feelings or depression following should be the signal for any person to discontinue cold bathing or swimming in cold water.

Warm baths are soothing in their effects and are appropriate at bed time particularly for persons inclined to sleeplessness. Very hot baths, especially if prolonged, may be harmful, and should not be taken often.

WATER TRANSPORTATION WEEK

The first week in March is to be "Water Transportation Week" in Washington, with addresses by distinguished speakers, and discussions of questions relating to navigation both upon inland waterways and the high seas

On Wednesday and Thursday, March 1 and 2, the Seventeenth Convention of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress will be held in the New Willard Hotel. This convention was postponed from the regular time in December because of the conference on the Limitation of Armament.

On the two following days, Friday and Saturday, March 3 and 4, the National Merchant Marine Association will hold its annual convention.

There is an increasing number of people in the United States who are interested both in the improvement and use of our waterways and harbors and in the maintenance and development of an American Merchant Marine. This arrangement will enable them to cover both conventions with a single journey to Washington.

PROPOSED TARIFF ON FUEL AND CRUDE OIL

Believing that proposed tariff of 35 cents a barrel on crude oil and the proposed $1 to 3 tariff on asphalt it successful would materially and adversely affect the individual automobile owners of the country and add to their already heavy upkeep, maintenance and taxation burdens, the American Automobile Association has entered a vigorous protest against these proposals.

Speaking in behalf of the owners of more than ten million motor vehicles, the A. A. A., representatives appeared before the United States Senate Committee on Finance and made it plain that the A. A. A. would fight to the last ditch any proposal designed to take any more revenue from the motor car. While the A. A. A. representatives went before the committee prepared to combat only a 35 cents a barrel tax on crude oil, they learned that certain interests were even planning oil tariff to the extent of $1 a barrel.

In presenting argument against a tariff on oil it was pointed out by the A. A. A. men that more than 10,000,000 automobiles are owned in the United States, or more than 80 per cent of all the automobiles in the world, in contrast with which less than 16 per cent of the world's oil supply is located in the United States. Further facts presented by the A. A. A., show that while the United States holds this less than 16 per cent of the world's oil sources, it is furnishing two thirds of the world's annual requirements, and at the same time consuming more than three-fourths of the world's total production which it was pointed out, makes it necessary for Uncle Sam to import more than 20 per cent to meet his own needs. It was asserted that any tariff which would prohibit or restrict the flow of oil to this country would affect adversely, in some form, nearly every citizen within its borders.

Some of the other points made by the A. A. A. against a tariff are as follows:

"Conservative estimate of the increase in the price of gasoline derived from Mexicon oil, resulting from the proposed tariff, reaches from 3 1-2 to 7 cents per gallon and therefore, the entire gasoline supply would bear an additional burden cost of about $410,000,000. This burden would fall upon the consumers who are the American owners of automobiles over 10,000,000 in number; the American owners of other gas engines, over 3,000,000 in number; American farmers owning 400,000 farm tractors; and the American users of kerosene, which in one form or another finds its way into almost every one of the 25,000 000 American homes.

"If the production and sale of motor vehicles continues to increase in the future as in the past 10 years it is not unlikely that we shall soon be compelled to purchase immense quantities of oil in foreign countries.

"A tariff on oil would place a premium on the rapid depletion of this one of our greatest natural resources; furthermore it would enable and encourage foreign countries to monopolize foreign supplie of petroluem.

"The use of the automobile, the truck the tractor and the gasoline stationary engine has become a vital and necessary factor in the individual and industrial life of the nation. To impose additional cost on the individual, as well as industry generally, at a time of severe industrial depression, would be to tax the nation for the benefit of a few who do not need help, and to commit an economic and therefore, a political wrong.

"Since this tariff on oil was proposed by its advocates in the House of Representatives, the price of crude oil in the Mid-Continent field has increased from 90 cents to $2.25 a barrel, or 150 per cent. Natural economic processes have brought a higher degree of protection than the proponents of a tariff asked.

"About sixty per cent of the asphalt is imported it can accomplish only the increased cost and consequent delay to road buildings and maintenance so urgently needed. This work is now carried on principally by the Federal Government, States and counties. Consequently, the public would ultimately pay this increased cost and the Federal Government by reason of its large appropriations to the States for road construction, would necessarily have to pay back a large portion of the tariff collected, as it would certainly have to stand its share of any increased cost.

"Furthermore, it is evident that it would not be a protective tariff because there are native asphalts, of the kind imported, produced in this country and no known source of supply. Native asphalts compete in kind only and not in cost or price with the home product artificially produced from petroleum.

"The home industry requires no protection as indicated by increase in production from 551 023 tons in 1913, to 1,731,500 tons in 1920 as compared with a decrease in the imported native asphalts from 207,033 tons in 1913 to 127,027 tons in 1920 during which period asphalt was on the free list.

"With the price of gasoline now double what it was in pre-war periods, and with an increase in the price of refined asphalt amounting to about 50 per cent, any tariff would still further increase the difficulties of individual and business effort."

M. O. Eldridge of the A. A. A., good roads board, acted as spokesman for the motorists.

GIRLS! LEMON JUICE WHITENS RED HANDS

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well and you have a quarter-pint of harmless and delightful lemon-bleach lotion to soften and whiten red, rough or chapped hands. This home-made lemon loction is far superior to glycerin and rose water to smoothen the skin. Famous stage beauties use it to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, because it doesnt irritate.

Last Friday afternoon the girls athletic association of George Mason High School gave an entertainment in the reception room of the school building from about 2 to 3 o'clock, for benefit of the association fund. Vernon Avenue School Auditorium, Del Ray, Miss Milcey Zachary, of Del Ray, rendered a piano solo "The Whispering Wind," which was the only "local" number on the program. The McCravy Brothers sang solos and duets, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. James McCravy; they played violin solos, and a violin duet. Mr. James McCravy played, "My Fiddle And ," playing also his own obligato. The brothers also gave some delightful impersonations—together they impersonated "Two Darkies At The Telephone." and Mr James McCravy gave an impersonation of "A Darkey Wedding," also "A Small Boys First Recitation." These and the many other splendid selections held their audiences spellbound for about two and a half hours and everybody still wanted "more."

Tired of Being Tired?

If weariness overtakes you every day, it may be caused by shoes that bind the feet, that check the circulation, or that cause strain and nervous derangement by encouraging poor carriage. Foot ills and indirectly many serious ailments may result from wearing shoes that pinch the muscles, press on the nerves and weaken the arch. To correct foot troubles, and to increase your comfort and vitality, change to the Cantilever Shoe. It is a trim, good-looking shoe, patterned on the graceful lines of the foot, made of the finest leathers.

Instead of a stiff sole, the Cantilever Shoe has a shank flexible like the foot arch itself. The shoe bends with every step. The muscles grow healthy with exercise. The result is a normal foot, which does not tire from long standing or walking.

The Cantilever last conforms to the foot. The toes are not twisted, but point straight ahead. The foot lies in its natural position, as it would in a moccasin. This with the correct set of the smart moderate heel encourages an easy untiring posture.

Try a pair this week, and let nature help you.

TUBERCLOSIS SCHOOLS FOR U. S. PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE PHYSICIANS

The tuberculosis schools for medical officers in soldier hospitals and examining stations which were estab lished some 18 months ago by the U. S. Public Health Service and were recently taken over by the Veterans' Bureau have trained several hundred service physicians, four fifths of whom have qualified in making special examinations of the chest and in reporting there on with accuracy satisfactory to the somewhat exacting requirements of the Rating Board of the Veterans' Bureau. This has lessened the expense for travel and the inconvenience and hazard to tuberculous veterans in going long distances to chest specialists and has more than balanced the cost of the schooling.

The schools were established in the spring of 1920 in various parts of the United States. Courses of instruction were arranged and the students were chosen from among the medical officers and specialists in the service of the United States Health Service. In the Eighth District alone, which comprises the States of Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin, and where more than 150 physicians were trained, seven such courses were conducted—three at Springfield Ill., two at Muirdale Sanatorium, Wauwatosa, Wis., and two at the Michigan State Sanatorium at Howell. The broad benefits of the courses having become apparent, it was then thought advisable to concentrate the efforts and combine the staff of the three original schools into one school and to conduct it at Chicago, where the district office of the bureau was located. Four very intensive seven day courses were conducted there.

The course embraced instruction in topograhpy inspection, palpation percussion and auscultation, demonstrations of the normal chest, chest pathology, and finally a study of advanced cases in hopitals. The classe were divided into sall sections for individual instruction under specialists, who guided each student through the steps of diagnosis, and taught him to visualize the conditions accountable for the physical findings.

A review with quizzes was then conducted, thoroughly fixing each point in the minds of the members of the class followed by special instruction in differential diagnosis and clinics. No member of the class was alowed to leave without learning individually to differentiate breath sounds, voice conductively, and kinds of rales, or without a mechanical and clinical knowledge concerning them.

A lecture and clinic on the heart, and a short course in X-ray and laboratory work were also given, and cinema diagnostic films were exhibited.

The latest course was held at Chicago during the week of December 5-11.

Suffolk— Flossie Winslow, an old negress, living on the Milteer farm, in Nansmond county, was robbed Monday night of $2,000. The old woman had for years been known to have money on her premises, and even the white people of the neighborhood knew that she was able to make change for them to the amount of $100.

WORKS FOR CHILD MUST KEEP WELL

Mothers in a Like Situation Should Read This Letter from Mrs. Enrico

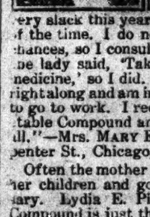
Chicago, Illinois.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a serious trouble. I had tried doctors and all said the same—an operation. At first I only felt the pain on my left side, but later I seemed to feel it on both sides. I am a power sewing-machine operator and have a little girl to support. I work in a tailor shop and that line of work has been very slack this year and I am home part of the time. I do not like to take any chances, so I consulted my friends, and one lady said, 'Take Lydia Pinkham's Medicine,' so I did. I have felt better right along and am in good enough health to go to work. I recommend your Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash to all."—Mrs. MARY ENRICO, 459 N. Carpenter St., Chicago, Illinois.



Often the mother is obliged to support her children and good health is necessary. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is just the medicine you can depend upon. It is a medicine for women's ailments and the relief it brought Mrs. Enrico it may bring to you. Keep well by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
